Product description:

REKA 4-meter modular black column for street lighting

The REKA column for street lamps is a robust and versatile solution for urban lighting. Made of galvanized steel tube with a matte black lacquer finish, this 4-meter-high column is supplied in 4 sections that easily assemble with the included hardware. Featuring a gate for electrical connections at the regulated height, this column provides efficient and long-lasting illumination in a variety of urban environments.

Recommended Uses:

1. Roadway and street lighting.
2. Lighting for pedestrian areas and parks.
3. Residential and urban area lighting.
4. Lighting for commercial and recreational areas.

Advantages of Using a Detachable Column:

1. Ease of Transport: Being detachable, the column can be transported more easily, reducing logistic costs and facilitating handling.

2. Versatile Installation: Allows for more flexible installation in areas with difficult access or requiring future modifications.
3. Simplified Maintenance: The ability to dismantle the column makes maintenance and component repairs easier, reducing long-term costs.
4. Adaptability: The detachable column adapts to different environments and specific lighting requirements, making it suitable for various urban applications.
